

Sarah Jackson, MPH

E-mail: sarah_s_jackson@yahoo.com

Sarah Jackson grew up in the DC area and returned after college in 2003. Since then she has had a variety of public health experience in the District. In 2005, Sarah worked for Whitman-Walker Clinic in the Volunteer Resources Department. She also volunteered as an interviewer with the SHARE study and as a HIV counselor and tester at the Gay Men's Health and Wellness Clinic. In 2007 Sarah worked with the National HIV Behavioral Surveillance (NHBS), collecting information on sexual and drug risk behaviors known to be connected with HIV infection. She also spent seven months at the DC Department of Health working on vial hepatitis surveillance. In 2008, Sarah graduated with an MPH. Currently, she is employed with the EMMES Corporation as a Data Manager for influenza clinical trials. This is her first year on the Governing Council and serve on the Food and Nutrition Committee.